

Unpacking the Culture Surrounding Fifty Shades of Grey

Speaker: Amy Bonomi, PhD, MPH

Wednesday, October 12, 2016 7:00 pm
Seymour Union Ballroom, SUNY Brockport
Live Stream: Morey 321, University of Rochester

Amy Bonomi is chair and professor of the Department of Human Development and Family Studies at Michigan State University. Bonomi has conducted multiple studies on Fifty Shades of Grey and its impact on popular culture and women's health.

Pizza will be provided at the SUNY Brockport event and at the University of Rochester live stream.

Visit www.brockport.edu/support/livestream/ during the event to watch the live stream online.

This event will also be live streamed in Basil 135 at St. John Fisher College.

Discussion: Panel of Researchers

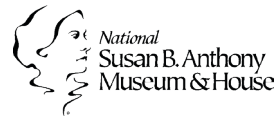

Thursday, October 13, 2016 4:00 pm - 6:00 pm
Larry and Cindy Bloch Alumni and Advancement Center, University of Rochester

Join speaker Amy Bonomi and guests Barbara LeSavoy, PhD and Holly Atkinson, MD in a dialogue about the Fifty Shades of Grey culture. LeSavoy, Director of the Women and Gender Studies program at SUNY Brockport, researches global and historical feminist perspectives on education and popular culture. Atkinson recently served as Director of the Human Rights Program at Mount Sinai, and now researches the relationships between human rights violations and women's health outcomes as part of the faculty at the newly established CUNY School of Medicine.

Students may take the Blue Line shuttle to and from the Bloch Center.

Co-sponsored by:

SEGway

Active Minds

College Feminists

MOVE

To request an interpreter or other accommodation for one or both events, email sbac@ur.rochester.edu no later than September 28, 2016. Representatives from UCC will be available at both events to address attendees' immediate mental health care needs.